

IS THERE A CANCER ON THE JUSTICE DEPARTMENT?

The tobacco industry will kill 440,000 Americans this year. Why are White House appointees letting it off the hook?

THE U.S. DEPARTMENT OF JUSTICE has pursued the tobacco industry for six years. It's the biggest racketeering case in U.S. history. The charge is fraud.

Remedies prescribed by the government's expert witnesses include making the industry fund a full generation of smoking cessation programs worth $130 billion, stop marketing to kids and deceiving adults about addictiveness, and more.

Now, the Justice Department, led by political appointees with tobacco ties, is attempting to torpedo the case in its final hours. If they succeed, the powerful and politically generous tobacco industry will essentially settle the case with itself.

That's outrageous. Please, tell your real representatives in Washington...

American lives are NOT for sale. Let the court decide. Not Big Tobacco.
